

Change Plan

The first step in not being a victim in life is to really examine yourself and your behaviors so you can make a "to-do" list about what to keep and build on, what to eliminate, and what to acquire in terms of life skills and strategies. Remember: You cannot change what you do not acknowledge. Identify and list the following:

1. The behaviors or habits you need to stop doing because they are disrupting your life
2. The things you need to start doing because their absence is leaving a big void in your life
3. The things you need to continue doing because they are creating value in your life

I need to STOP doing: _____

I need to START doing: _____

I need to CONTINUE doing: _____
